

HARD HAT HIT . . . Arvil Dantel, a first helper in the Open Hearth Department at Columbia Steel Company, gave Groucho Marx a few pointers on the steelmaking business when the show was broadcast nationwide over the facilities of the Columbia Broadcasting Company, Wednesday April 12 at 6 p.m. Dantel came well prepared with props and supplied Groucho with a steelworker's hard hat and a pair of steel smelter's blue glasses. The broadcast was heard locally over station K.N.X. Dantel shared in a $110 prize with a Santa Monica teaman.

FOOD IS PLENTIFUL

The U. S. is the only major country whose ability to produce a food supply has always outstripped its growth in population.

Aero Squadron Chief Finds No Violations at Torrance Airport

Enraged citizens of Lomita who have been protesting the "buzzing" and low flying around Torrance Municipal Airport received little support from the sheriff's aero squadron, who have been watching the field for three weeks.

Capt. Sewell Griggers, head of the unit, said this week that a close observation of the area for the three weeks had turned up no violations of laws governing low flying.

Meanwhile, Torrance city officials said they had received no complaints from residents near the field. Further checks with residents in the Walteria and Seaside districts indicate that the alleged low flying has not been noted there.

Statements by Captain Griggers and Torrance officials came on the heels of a declaration last week by State Assemblyman Vincent Thomas of San Pedro that a sweeping investigation of the Airport would be made.

Thomas told citizens at a protest meeting called by the anti-zoning Registered Voters and Property Owners Association, Inc., that the problem must be cleared up even if it meant bringing a state interim investigating committee to the scene.

Wednesday is named after Woden, a deity of the Anglo-Saxons.
